

Title : ROUILLES

Year of realization: 2011/12)

Formats : DVPal (24-48) and .mov (H264)

Duration : 6'40

Description : Visual-music work based on still images and footage. The images correspond to the Port of Mar del Plata and were taken in 2004, before the dismantling of sunken ships.

In the area of the Port of Mar del Plata, for many years there were many ships, abandoned by their owners, agonizing and slowly corrupted by the weather forming a mass of rust.

Fortunately this dishonorable metal cemetery is being dismantled, thereby recovering the natural balance of environment and restoring the functionality and operation functions for which that port was created.

However, in the memory of those who live that time, remains a very particular resonance, images and memories are transformed and become other images, reflecting the inherent beauty of materials degraded by time.

Metal, wood, rust and paint peeling, resonate to shape a polyphony of timbres that goes together with the rhythm of these images.
